International Minimum Standards of TSA Children' s Homes

- The Salvation Army is responsible for the care of thousands of vulnerable children across the world. Generations of children have grown up socially, spiritually and physically in our homes under the care of loving officers and staff.
- When we take the orphan and vulnerable child into our care we represent a family to someone with none. We model our heavenly father' s unconditional love and concern to those who may have known rejection, abuse and pain. We become part of their journey of healing, discovery of God' s plan for their lives and help empower them to live that plan out.
